

Flame
Brief Synopsis

Keith Carter has everything going for him. He was a sports hero from the time he was fourteen years old wowing the coaches, kids and parents as the star running back for his varsity high school team. He was faster and more athletic than even the seniors and soon scouts from college teams were sniffing around. His fellow students adore him especially the female sector. He knows he has good looks and charm and takes advantage. But he loves his high school sweetheart, Angela, and tries to be as faithful as possible—but is not always successful! When he gets a four-year ride at Boston College and a spot as a starter on their Atlantic Division team, he has the world on a string. Now it's the NFL making inquiries. Things get complicated when he becomes involved with a few team cheerleaders and learns that Angela is pregnant. He's not ready to settle down—he's a star and having too much fun. Angela and his mother are hurt that he all but abandons Angela and their baby. Keith loves the spotlight and he's not ready to leave it! But destiny always has a way of tricking a guy—especially a very arrogant one—and Keith is no exception. After a serious injury on the field, Keith's life is turned upside down. At first he feels that his life is ruined and all is lost but in the end he finds where he really belongs and learns that it's not all about him, it's about what he can do for his community and for the ones he loves.