

Ildico – Warrior Princess
Brief Synopsis

Ildico was a young princess in a small village in the Hunnish Empire when the great Chagan, Atilla the Hun, rode through with his horde. Ildico was selected to offer the Atilla a refreshing grog on the hot day. As he downed his drink he looked down upon the ten-year-old girl and decided she would be his future wife. Ildico's father, the King of the village, was ordered to bring his daughter to Atilla's palace across the vast rugged terrain of the huge empire where she would be groomed to be his bride. Over the next five years she learned to be a queen but also was instructed on war strategies, how to wield a sword and the art of thrusting a mace. Finally Ildico married Atilla the Hun but the marriage was nothing like she or anyone could have imagined.