

Brief Synopsis
Magdalene

Magdalene is the story of Mary Magdalene a young married woman who fled the abuse and mistreatment of a broken marriage for a better life in Jerusalem. She had no skills and nothing to sell other than her own beauty and sensual allure. Mary dreamed of a life of wealth and opulence which compelled her to become part of the oldest profession in the world. Her beauty was legendary and her sexual favors were sought by wealthy men who gave her gold and jewels that provided her with the lifestyle that she thought would bring her happiness.

But there was always an emptiness within her, a nagging that lingered though she tried to ignore it. When Mary encountered Jesus of Nazareth she was immediately drawn to him. She didn't understand that loving this man would be like loving no other. When the spirit moved her, she realized that her love for Jesus was pure and uncomplicated just as his love for her was. Though she had to struggle with discarded lovers, Pharisees and Romans and Caiaphas and the High Jewish priests, Mary emerged just as Jesus had promised she would – the most blessed among all others.
