

Our Phantom Voyage

Brief Synopsis

It is 1983 and Maggie Flannery is a Corrections Officer in Cleveland, Ohio's urban jungle. She is a young, proud and dedicated member of the US justice system. She's a good Catholic girl who is driven by the values she was taught—"I don't lie, cheat or steal and respect everyone." Maggie plans a cruise with some of her co-workers. But when two of her friends are in a terrible car accident and can't go on the cruise, Maggie recruits her younger sister, Rose to go with her.

When they see that the "luxury liner" they booked looks more like a rundown pirate ship, the sisters know there in for an adventure they never expected. In their wildest dreams they never could have imagined where that voyage would take them and the horrible conditions, rationed food, danger, romance and fun they would encounter. But the least expected turn of all was the involvement of an international crime ring that would lead to Maggie's fame as an unexpected hero.
