

Brief Synopsis
The Host

The Host is the story of Elena Martinez, an attractive and successful young woman who has an important position with a local Los Angeles TV station. She faces many challenges—one of which is having to deal with overly ambitious individuals who are anxious to further their TV careers. One day, she puts her skills to use when she tangles with a local radio host, Dave Russell, who thinks he should be given special treatment. Elena straightens him out in no uncertain terms. The host is furious!

A few evenings later, Elena is the victim of a masked rapist who abducts her in the park on her way home. The assailant holds her at knife-point, threatening to kill her if she makes a sound. After he completes his heinous crime, he allows Elena to run off. The man removes his ski mask revealing that it is Dave Russell, the radio host and local celebrity, who is the rapist!

There are many obstacles and surprising events during Elena's struggle to find justice. A Hitchcockian twist in The Host adds an unexpected element, increases the intrigue and infuses another rich dimension into the plot.
